Dependency Override Student Information

The Department of Education determines a student's status as dependent or independent based on the answers the student provides on Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

The parent(s) unwillingness to financially contribute to a student's education is not a sufficient reason for determining a student's status as independent. There are specific instances including: parental abuse, parental abandonment, and incarceration of a parent, in which a student MAY be considered for a dependency override.

Dependency override consideration requires documentation of the student's parental situation. Documentation should include:

- Letter explaining your parental situation
- Documentation of the parental situation (arrest/incarceration records, death certificate(s), letter from third party i.e. Department of Children and Families, social worker, guidance counselor)

You must include information on BOTH parents (biological or adoptive).

Your appeal and supporting documentation will be reviewed. Based on professional judgement of a Financial Aid Administrator, your petition will either be granted or denied and you will be notified via email of the decision.

If your Petition for Dependency Override is approved and you have a completed FAFSA on file for the year under review, the Financial Aid Administrator will send any necessary FAFSA corrections to the U.S. Department of Education. If you have not completed the FAFSA, you must do so. The FAFSA may be completed electronically at www.fafsa.gov.

A Dependency Override is granted on a yearly basis. Therefore, a student who was granted a Dependency Override must reapply for a Dependency Override in subsequent academic years.
